

Cover Letter

Having always been interested in better helping and understanding others as well as analysing and researching in general, I think this job could help to improve both myself, the company and it's clients.

I like to learn new methods and technologies, to push the limits of good computation and dealing with tasks such as Big Data and Analytics. I have finished a Bachelor of Computer Science degree at Edinburgh Napier University. I also have positive prior experience working with clients as a customer service assistant.

I can offer very positive and energetic drive towards my colleges, managers and clients. Being social, friendly and always looking for the good in others are qualities I can offer to the company.
